

Welcome to the story of Camille the Camel

Once upon a time, there was a camel named Camille who felt very unhappy. She had always felt different, but not in a good way, you see, she was a yellow camel covered in red dots and she had very unusual red and orange stripy legs.

One day, as Camille was out walking getting her daily exercise, she bumped into a huge, grey elephant named Tusky. Tusky didn't like to see anyone sad so he said to Camille, "Come with me over the rainbow and I will take you to a magical place." Intrigued, Camille trotted over the most beautiful rainbow with Tusky, to find on the other side, a wonderful and colourful school.

At this marvelous school, Camille met a whole family of magnificent animals and they were all so different! There were arctic foxes with immense, furry ears and fascinating octopuses, (not one the same, every one different!). Also, she met a pink zebra, (very unusual), a fluffy, purple donkey, a tiny heffalump, and a round
