

Hi Parents.

Countdown for September: St Andrew's awaiting our children and families-

It is so important that families are ready for the return to schooling in September.

I hope confidence grows with these snippets of news of our preparations. The school is looking great- some staff still in making sure classrooms are all sorted (more photos to follow over coming weeks)

I attach 4 more photos of our school as we build up for September (See attachments) One photo shows our colourful main corridor all ready to greet our kids.

Another is a piece of family fun art work taken from our 'Family Art Gallery' reminding everyone of the strong bond we have with parents and the great role models our St Andrew's adults play in the lives of our special children joining in with our various projects.

The other two photos are important reminders of the part all children have to play in order to keep each other safe. Please make sure your children fully understand these important hygiene rules - especially, of how to wash their hands properly.

Thank You.

Please keep checking our Twitter and website over the next few weeks for more details of our September schedule as well as reminders of the important holiday homework (sent out last Monday) which will form the basis of our assessment of all children on their return to school.

Regards, Graham Huckstep.

Keep Safe
